

How to Arrange a Meeting on Outlook

Using Outlook, you can send meeting requests to one or more people in different scenarios. Outlook will track the recipients of the request and reserve time for meetings on the calendar. When creating a meeting request, you can add attachments, set locations, and use the Schedule Assistant to select the best meeting time.

Arrange a meeting

1. Choose one of two ways to create a meeting request:
 - Select the "Meeting" option in the "New Items" list.
 - Select the "Create a Meeting" option.
 - Select the "Reply to the Meeting" bottom from the email in the Inbox.
2. Add participants in one of two ways:
 - Add the participants to the "Recipients" line of the meeting request, then skip to the Step 4.
 - If you are using a Microsoft 365 or Exchange account, use the Scheduler Assistant to view the participants schedules.
3. In the Scheduler's Assistant, click the box under your name and type in the name or email address of the participants, or click the Add Participant button to display your address book.

Click the icon next to a participant's name in the Scheduler Assistant to mark a specific participant as a Required Participant, Optional Participant, or Resource. When you start typing the names of participants, Outlook will provide you with suggestions based on who you have recently met or emailed with. Then select a name from the list to add participants.
4. Add the meeting theme, starting time, ending time, and location.
5. To attach a file to a meeting request, select the Attach File on the insert menu, and then select the attachment.
6. Click the Send bottom if it is not a periodic meeting.

Add additional participants in an existing meeting

If you are the meeting Initiator:

1. Double-click to open the meeting, then use the Recipient row or the Scheduler Assistant to add one or more people to the meeting.
2. Click Send, then select one of two options.
 - Send updates to only the added or deleted participants.
 - Send the update to all participants.

If you are not the meeting initiator:

3. Open the meeting request. Select Responses in the Responses group on the ribbon, and then select Forward. Add one or more recipients to the meeting request.
4. Click Send. The meeting initiator will receive a notification that you have forwarded the meeting request to others.

Follow the above instructions, you can reserve a meeting on Outlook and solve the possible problems.
